

Gala Tent Entrance Porch Case Study

Porch in use

We have been using the Gala Tent entrance porch for over 6 weeks now and I must say it has been a delight and a godsent to use!

It's main purpose is to create a more professional look for any event. It gives a superior feel walking into the marquee whatever the event may be. The fact it takes me just about 15 minutes to set up means that in my business I can charge very little for the use of the entrance porch meaning customers have a more pleasant experience. Here we have a 4m X 10m marquee with a 3m X 6m connected to it to seat 60 guests. The entrance porch creates a more formal vibe also giving a more inviting appeal. It also gives a clear indication of where the guests are going to be coming into the function.

Secondly it instantly solves the problem many Gala Tent customers may have already encountered. The connector joining the eave 'A' Poles and the 'C' legs is 6'6" high. Most doors which lead to a garden open outwards and the top of the doors is 7ft. Hence is one would like the marquee right up to the marquee! Unfortunately there's no other way in the design of any marquee and this is going to be the way forward in the marquee industry.

Gala Tent Marquee

Top Gear's Stig!

By having an entrance marquee which has higher roofline means that can slip over the door allowing the user to continue to open the door, walk into the entrance porch and use the marquee connected to it. It's ease of use and the minimal amount of time it takes to set up means there's no hassle using it at all! A problem that has given me hours and hours of grief, which I have in the past had to bodge or make do to make things work, has been solved in a matter of minutes! Simple!

Gala Tents' entrance porch as even been given the thumbs up by Top Gears's very own Stig!

The entrance porch here has solved the problem of that we couldn't have the marquee right up to the door of the pub, as the marquee was too big to fit in the gap. The entrance porch saved the day as the weather turned extremely wet and it held it's ground for the wedding it was used for!

For anyone hiring or buying a Gala Tent I couldn't recommend the entrance porch enough. It offers a high level of versatility and very very good value for money. This is Abacus Party Cover's Swiss Army Tent!!

Gala Tent Porch